Description

The Malletech Orchestra Series of mallets is the answer for models targeted for specific excerpts, as well as a movement toward lighter, smaller heads for certain applications. The mallets were designed in collaboration with William James, principal percussionist of the St. Louis Symphony. Will has expanded the original Orchestra line into a vast selection of sounds and tone colors, with many different materials, weights, sizes and handle types.

The Malletech ORMG41 features a 7/8" Grey Ball on a red fiberglass shaft. A small articulate mallet representing the perfect balance of articulation and warmth.
