Description

Remo's White Suede Emperor drumheads produce a warm soft sound with maximum mid-range tones for snare and tom toms. Cora Coleman-Dunham of Beyoncé, Chad Sexton of 311, and legendary drummer Steve Gadd, are just a few of the Remo artists using White Suede heads. Cora testifies, "White Suede gives me more clarity when playing mallets, brushes or sticks. They're versatile so I can play aggressively and I can play soft and intimate and still have great tone and depth."
