Description

The Innovative Percussion Chris Lamb CL-X6 Hard Dark Xylophone Mallets have a 1-1/8" nylon top-weighted core and graphite color. A Classic mallet that every serious percussionist should have...perfect balance with power!

After more than two years of intense development, this exceptional collection of mallets takes clear aim at the unique timbre possibilities that one is able to create on the xylophone. The Christopher Lamb Orchestral Series xylophone mallets are constructed with individually engineered custom-molded cores with varying weights specific to each model, strategically placed in either the top or center of the mallet head to create optimum feel, balance, and sound. This series allows the player to experience the colorful, comically clever side of the xylophone's character, as well as its cutting edge, powerhouse presence required in a concert hall. Given the considerable magnitude of orchestral repertoire, the countless solo materials written for xylophone, along with the varieties of touch needed, and these tools will help the player craft his or her desired sound.
